TYLER AND ALEXANDER.

Speak to a Delighted Growd at the C .- H .

Those who heard the speeches of Hon. R. T. Tyler and Geo. H. Alexander at the court-house Friday afternoon were greatly pleased. Mr. Alexander's remarks were short but to the point and showed that he knew "where he was at" and aphad given him in securing the nomination for railroad commissioner. At the conclusion of his speech, Hon. R. C Warren, who had performed a like service for Mr. Alexander, then introduced the next lieutenant governor of Kentucky in highly eulogistic words and Mr. Tyler began a speech which many say was the finest they ever heard. In the beginning he stated that he was unalterably in favor of a sound currency and construed the democratic platform to declare for it, but the question had no place in a State campaign, being purely a National one, and that a difference in opinion in the matter was no excuse for any democrat to refuse to support Gen. Hardin, who is right in everything else and worthy and well qualified for the highest office in the State. He utterly refuted the malicious charge that there Frankfort and showed how well the officials had done under the extraordinary increase of expenses growing out of the constitutional convention and the lengthy legislation necessary to conform the laws to it, while at the same time the tax rate had been reduced and the school per capita increased. He compared the States and counties which are under republican rule with those under democratic and proved by facts and figures should be trusted. Mr. Tyler made a till then. ## W. P. WALTON.

THE political skies seem to be brightening somewhat. Democrats are realizing what wrong they will inflict both upon the party and upon the State by sulking or bolting, and those who are not fully determined to rule or ruin are beginning to see the error of heir way and fleeing from the wrath to come should the republicans be victorious. Next to a turncoat, who is the most detestible and contemptible of creatures, who deserves no recognition from God or man, comes the chronic bolter. He is always ton, Tex. an opinionated individual and usually one with a grievance. If you have any remaining love for party or a spark of manliness do not desert the one and prove the absence of the other by giving it a stab in the darkness of the voting booth. But for the secret ballot there would be no fears of democratic success, for men who want to keep their record clear would not dare have their votes recorded for the republican ticket, nor scratch the democratic in any particular. Our only danger lies in traitors in the camp, since they can betray and never be found out. Don't prove a Judas or a Janus, but go to the polls like a man and by stamping under the rooster vote the whole democratic ticket, which is composed of as good men, to say the very least, and of better, not to say too much, than the republican lay out. Let old Lincoln join the democratic hosts from all over the State in putting her seal of condemnation on the arrogance and insolence of a treacherous and untrustworthy foe, and help roll up such a majority as will put to everlasting death the party which is now making a death struggle to get the offices and hold high carnival on the ruins of a prosperous State.

THE Columbia Spectator has reached and passed its 25th birthday. That's a pretty long time for a country paper to exist and it is proof positive of the survival of the fittest. ## MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

at Crab Orchard Sunday .

-Mrs. Thomas Price, who had been married just a week, attempted suicide at Sebree, this State, by taking morphine. Doctors saved her but did not succeed in to take her life.

-Miss Mamie Brewer, daughter of Mrs. Nannie Brewer, of Danville, formerly of Stanford, was married Thursday to J. McKenzie Moss, a young lawyer of Bowling Green, by President Cabbell, of Potter College. It was a swell affair in every particular. Among the guests were Hon, James A. McKenzie, United States Minister to Peru, an uncle of Mr. Moss, and Miss Letitia Stevenson, daughter of the vice president and a cousin of the groom. The bride is said to have been the prettiest girl in Danville which is noted for pretty girls and her picture revenue, and having failed in that desire in the Louisville Times shows it. Miss Even their new found friends must hold diffident and was standing off by himself looking sad and forlorn. The little beauty pittied him and accosted him with: "You look like a waif, let me take you in charge." He readily assented, Cupid at once began to get in his work and love did the rest.

-The marriage of Mr. Samuel W Duncan, of Dallas, Texas, to Miss Susie ty, for the murder of young Murphy, ing, Rev. A. V. Sizemore officiating, and -Allen Thomas is wanted at Peru, the latter by change of venue. There after lunch the newly wedded pair will home in the Lone Star State, where Mr. Duncan is engaged in a prosperous business. He is a native of Wayne county, pally on paper, usually a very unsatisfactory way of courting. The bride-elect is a sweet-faced young lady, gentle of manners and highly accomplished, and Mr. Duncan is a most fortunate man to have won her at such long range over beaux who could press their suits by personal appeal. ## PUBLIC SALE.

A Good Blue-Grass Farm Near Stanford. Live Stock, Bank Stock, Crop, Farming Implements, &c.

The heirs of John M. and Bettie Reid, deceased, will, on Thursday, Oct. 31st, 1895, At the mansion house on the premises, about 11/2 miles from Stanford, offer at public auction, the Farm of

About 300 Acres of Land, On which John M. Reid lived at his death. This farm is well improved and is very desirably located and the land is of the best quality. The improvements consist of a large two-story dwelling as good as new and all necessary outbuildings. The farm is watered by five never-failing springs and has a large orchard of well-selected fruits and of desirable variety. The neighborhood is one of the best in the county, with ro objectionable surroundings. The convenience to the churches and schools in Stanford make the location very superior. Stanford has several churches, a large female college, a good male academy and flourishing public school, a good merchant flouring mill and is supplied with water works, electric light and ice factory.

This farm will first be offered in three lots: One of 35 acres off of the Northeast corner; one of 215 acres, including improvements, and one of about 50 acres South of residence and on the opposite side of the road from the residence. Then the tract will be offered as a whole and the highest and best

Terms reasonable and made known on day of w.F. McKinney has possession and will take pleasure in showing any one over the farm. For

Dehorn Your Cattle

I will go to any place where there are six or more cattle to ochorn. I do the work with the Lightning Dehoruer. Can dehorn any cow in three seconds. The knife makes a clean, smooth cut, does not crush nor break the horn, as the clipper does. It is the only humane way to dehorn. Does not punish the animal like the saw, and the wound gets well as quick again as that made by the saw. For further information, call on G. A. PEYTON, Stanford, &v.
